Discussion

In this discussion, the writer tried to discuss whether the headline can represents the content of the news or not. The first, the writer should find out the meaning of the headlines, headlines has more than one meaning, so to make the right meaning the writer should connected to the situational context. To find out the situational context, it can be analyzed with field, mode, and tenor. After that, making connection between Headline’s meaning and situational context. Based on that, we can know whether headline’s news can represents the content of the news. For example:

1) Return of the king

Javier Aguirre once ruled, in 2015. Aguirre’s legend began when he returned around Mexico’s near-dead hopes of reaching the world cup. Now, he returns once again to lead Mexico back to prominence once more.
Aguirre’s first official day on the job was Thursday and he addressed the media for...

The conceptual meaning contained in the headline above is “coming back of male ruler of an independent state (oxford dictionary). The meaning of “coming back of male ruler of independent state” has another meaning, it has another association based on the contain of the news. when viewed from situational context (what is being said in that language) that is about one former manager Javier Aguirre who was asked back to Mexico national team as manager. and the meaning of the king here is Javier Aguirre. So the headline has associative meaning as “the return of Javier Aguirre in Mexico national team as manager”.

2). Irish Invasion

With their opponent picked out, French couch Raymond Domenech is hoping for the best when the two team’s square off for a place in next summer’s world cup. The manager is worried that the Irish will send a formidable number of supporters to Paris, which could hinder his team...

The conceptual meaning that is contained in Headline “Irish Invasion” is “the Irish people act of an army entering another country entering another country by force to take control”. When the meaning above is related to the content of the News, it is less appropriate. Based on the content of News, it was talking about the concerns about the arrival of Irish Supporters in large number. So, “Irish Invasion” has another meaning. The headline is associated to Domenech worried about Ireland Supporters.

CONCLUSION

In Journalism, writing News needs a certain technique. The conventional way of writing news (short, clear and brief) changes to the new style, that is a style more in – depth. It can be seen from the meaning and form, that is a style has implicit meaning which can only be understood through reference of context.

To conclude, this discussion shows that the words used in the headline contains conceptual and associative meaning that set in situational context. Based on the result. We can assume that headline always uses an unusual diction and has an implicit meaning to attract the attention of the reader. The headline can be understood by reference of context. Even though, the words that is used in Headline has associative meaning, the headline able to refer the content of News. The this technique able to attract the reader to read News.
